Project: Smart Calorie Analyzer

What Am I proud about:

In this report, me and my team mates successfully developed a BMI calculator page using HTML, CSS, and JavaScript, enabling users to compute their Body Mass Index. Additionally, we made efforts to integrate the login page with a Firebase database so that user details will be saved to database after registering, aiming to establish a secure and efficient user authentication system.

In further project reports, we will update the remaining things and take our project to the next step by validating fields and adding other pages based on the proposal.

Next steps:

- Finalize API
- Connecting database (In progress)
- Work on backend framework
