Project: Smart Calorie Analyzer

What Am I proud about:

In this project, we successfully developed a login page for this project by combining it with Firebase database services. User login information, including passwords and usernames, is securely saved in the Firebase database due to this implementation, guaranteeing dependable and effective data management. Using Firebase not only makes user credentials more secure, but it also gives our login functionality a scalable and real-time database solution. This achievement is a major project milestone since it creates a solid basis for user authentication and data storage in our application.

In further project reports, we will update the remaining things and take our project to the next step by validating fields and adding other pages based on the proposal.

Next steps:

- Finalize API
- Connecting database (In progress)
- Work on backend framework
